Executive Coaching Program

General Description:

The Anderson & Anderson Executive Coaching/Anger Management Program™ is designed to meet the needs of high-level executives, physicians, and those clients who prefer to be seen on an individual basis for specialized coaching and privacy. The program includes, The Practice of Control, the Anderson & Anderson “disruptive physician” client workbook, along with Gaining Control of Ourselves DVD, and Contrasting Wheels of Behavior – the do’s and don’ts of self-control.

Assessments:

Each of our coaching clients will receive an E-mail containing access to the internationally recognized BarOn EQ-1 2.0 Model of Emotional Intelligence. This comprehensive assessment examines the following EQ competencies:
Following a detailed explanation of the client’s scores on this assessment, the coach and the client will develop an Action Plan that will be followed during the 6 month Aftercare Program.

Aftercare sessions are provided via phone. Follow-up is designed to assist the coaching client in utilizing the tools introduced during the initial in-person twelve sessions.

Schedule:
The program for on-site Coaching is typically conducted over a two-day period. This is done to avoid interference with the physician’s work schedule. The coaching is provided for six hours each day, and includes the comprehensive assessment. However, you may schedule the sessions to suit your needs. Three four-hour dates can be scheduled, or you may also schedule weekly sessions as to your preference (for sessions conducted at our office in Los Angeles).

Aftercare is scheduled over a six-month period at the conclusion of the initial sessions. Sessions by phone are scheduled twice monthly. Please call our office for additional information regarding scheduling.

Sessions can be scheduled for any day of the week, including Saturday and Sunday.

Fees:
The total fees for the Executive Coaching/Anger Management program onsite, is $5,900.00. This fee includes the enrollment, assessment, coaching, training materials and 6 months of Aftercare. It does not include airfare, ground transportation, or hotel accommodations.

The Aftercare consists of twice monthly phone contacts and as needed consultations. The total fee for clients seen in our Los Angeles Office is $4,900.00. For any additional information regarding cost, please call our office at 310-207-3591.

If practiced and utilized as taught, the skills learned in the areas of self-awareness, self-control, social awareness and relationship, as well as anger management, communication, stress management, and emotional intelligence will enable the client to be more productive, less stressed, and more empathic to the needs of others. You will communicate more effectively and express emotions more appropriately.
